

Could give a rough idea of the machine learning model. Is it a regression or classification model? What kinds of models can be the candidates of this problem, for example, LSTM or SVM? What backend is going to be used, TensorFlow, Theano, or Caffe? No need to be specific, it just feels like there is something missing here. Great dataset selection by the way. Love this idea.